Technical Review Required Prior to Submittal for Plan Commission

In order to abide by our comprehensive review process, all Plan Commission application items must go through a technical review prior to making a formal Plan Commission meeting submittal. The technical review process generally takes 3-4 weeks to successfully complete. Application requests should be submitted to the City for the technical review approximately 4 weeks prior to the Plan Commission cut-off date below. All technical comments must be addressed prior to an item being placed on the Plan Commission agenda. Plans that have successfully gone through the technical review process and have no outstanding concerns may then submit for the meetings per the schedule below. The following dates will be adhered to:
